

Edible Arrangments

Phoebe's food is all in a jumble! Can you help her remake her sandwiches? (It may help to keep the bread stationary)

- A four-wheeled mode of transportation, also a section of a train – (1st)
- In a bathroom rated number two – (6th)
- What you do after submitting a math test or chopping a specific vegetable – (1st)
- Coming after, before, or with the tonic, made with juniper berries – (4th)
- The sound a sheep makes – (2nd)
- Advice, as well as something you leave at a diner table – (1st)
- Used much to describe things that are excessive, has many homophones – (6th)
- A bed in a sick ward, or a crib – (5th)
- A decorative container for a late human being – (3rd)
- Meaning 'for each', or 'by means of' – (6th)
- One of the slapstick stooges – (2nd)
- A corvine noise – (6th)
- Coming before a pump or an Uzi – (3rd)

- The general name of Groot if he was in the Lord of the Rings franchise
- A United States Ship
- to irritate or annoy, starting with an i
- A letter of the Greek alphabet, as well as a vital energy that could be spelled differently
- Whatever pronoun is leaving the homestead in that one Beatles song
- Equipment to protect you from quarantine housing
- A fabric floor-poster you put outside your door
- If you are British, a specific grandparent, and if not, an undefined number in computer science
- a Latin road, now just crossing through
- A pirate's favorite word in the alphabet
- by this English statement of equivalent exchange, for every tit you should get a...
- A decorative container for a late human being
- an artist who 'has everything revealed' and is also often very possessive

